

we bring water to life

WE ARE CALIFORNIA WATERS

Water is the source of life and the source of our passion. We are industry-leading artisans specializing in water features and commercial aquatics. By delivering cutting-edge design, coupled with outstanding construction and service excellence, we capture the beauty, magic and mystery of water for all to enjoy – we bring water to life.

OUR PASSION FOR WATER RUNS DEEP

Art in motion, water has the power to soothe and excite. Inspire and invigorate. Reflect and beckon. It flows, sparkles, ripples, bubbles and splashes. The applications and appeal of water are limitless. But capturing those infinite possibilities requires expertise, experience and a passion that runs deep.

For nearly 20 years, California Waters has been bringing water to life for our clients and end users. We continue to illuminate water's magical properties with every project we undertake. More than ornamentation, our projects are individual works of art integral to their environments – each leaving a lasting legacy for the communities they enhance.

From design and engineering to pre-construction services, from construction and renovation to maintenance and repairs – rely on us as the single source for your complete project needs. Our in-house team of professionals are ready to dive in and deliver with the ideas, expertise, speed, quality, and cost efficiencies you won't find anywhere else.

Let's get started.

IMAGINE

Water in all its fluidity offers the ultimate medium for your ideas. Let your imagination run free. If you can dream it, we can build it. We are ready to combine your vision with our imagination to create a masterpiece. And if you need us to do the dreaming, we are innovators who will take your project to new heights.

DESIGN

The possibilities provided by water are limitless. So are the potential challenges. We'll eliminate those challenges and provide a design focused on value engineering, green design, and energy efficiency that fully embraces your theme and perspective. Let us be your visionaries, taking you from paper to reality.

BUILD

Water has a mind of its own. Because water is what we do, we're experts at using state-of-the-art and cost-effective construction techniques to overcome the complexities of working with water. By integrating lean construction methods, we reduce errors, increase production and deliver a project on time and on budget. Discover how easy and effortless it can be to let us build your vision, giving you the freedom to focus your efforts on your project's bigger picture.

MAINTAIN

Water is timeless. We'll help you make sure your water feature or aquatic facility is as well. Our full-circle approach includes ongoing maintenance and repair services customized to save you time, money and energy, all with an eye to public safety, while preserving the beauty, clarity and function of your project.

THEMED ENVIRONMENTS & ROCKWORK

Water and stone create a dramatic juxtaposition. California Waters is a master at crafting magnificent artificial rockwork for both water features and stand-alone structures that is indistinguishable from actual stone. Our experts design and sculpt stunning rockwork that blends organically with the surrounding landscape for an unbelievably natural result. We can also introduce natural rock and boulders to create a distinctive theme that complements and enhances your environment. From contemporary to rustic to historical, we'll craft a captivating backdrop that draws the eye and differentiates your environment.

DESIGN

From classic to contemporary, stunning to serene, California Waters transforms your vision into breathtaking reality. Our creative partnership begins with the concept — the subtle currents that propel a design from average to extraordinary. By understanding your environment, your audience and your goals, we ensure the water element or pool we design connects with people emotionally and visually, while providing functionality. From capturing your aesthetic preferences to identifying your architectural parameters, we bring the fluid thinking, resourceful innovation and strategic planning required to move smoothly from idea on paper to project in production.

DESIGN CONSULTING

Every water project comes with ripples. By partnering with you during the design phase, and successfully coordinating with other design team members such as civil engineers, electrical engineers and landscape architects, we help you address and minimize the unique challenges of working with water. Calling on our invaluable in-the-trenches experience in construction and post-construction, we take proactive measures during the critical planning phase to identify and resolve prospective issues before they arise, saving you and your client time and money. With innovation and ingenuity, we'll value engineer your design while remaining true to your original vision. By sharing our expertise on the front-end, we'll help you create value, control costs, meet schedules, and build a project your competitors will envy.

ENGINEERING

Creating a striking water feature or engineering a technologically advanced pool requires a thorough understanding of the intricacies of fluid dynamics. We blend our expertise in mechanical and structural engineering with our passion for creative architectural design. The results are beautiful, functional and structurally sound water features and commercial pools that inspire confidence as well as awe. Our focus on strategic planning and attention to detail minimizes RFIs and change orders while maximizing the success of your project. With an open flow of information between our service division and our engineers, our projects don't just look good on paper, they perform as planned within your specific environment.

BUILD

your vision in motion

DESIGN-BUILD

Simply put, California Waters is the design-build expert. Project coordination becomes a breeze. Plans are prepared correctly and communication is seamless. One entity, one contract, one streamlined flow of work from initial concept through completion. Unified from the outset, our integrated team will deliver a project faster, more cost effectively and with fewer change orders and RFI's, saving you time, money and headaches...we make it easy.

CONSTRUCTION

Water adds an element of complexity to any project. From a competition pool to a stunning water feature, the unpredictable nature of working with water continually presents new challenges that impact your schedule, your budget, and can even bring construction to a screeching halt. Which is why it's vital to partner with a proactive expert with the specific skill set and knowledge to identify and address any complications that may arise. As authorities on the unique attributes of working with water, we use innovative and lean construction techniques critical to staying on time and on budget. Our highly skilled, specialized construction crews will give you the freedom to focus your efforts elsewhere, knowing quality and execution won't be compromised.

RENOVATION

Water presents each aquatic and fountain renovation project with its own individual and unique complexities. Whether time has taken its toll or you're simply ready for a change, our in-house team of experienced renovation specialists will rise to the challenge. From a serene waterscape that needs a facelift, to a historical fountain ready for an energy-efficient upgrade, to re-plastering and upgrading your commercial pool for enhanced durability, we'll take your project to the next level while preserving the original vision and embracing the existing environment.

SERVICE

Water needs continual attention and we deliver. Our signature 360° customized service approach prevents most problems before they start – ensuring your pool, fountain and waterscape continues to run smoothly and efficiently. Many of the largest property management firms and owner-operators in Southern California have relied on our service expertise since 1999. So can you. We possess the economies of scale to work on any size property with daily to weekly visits. From intimate pools to complex waterscapes, we offer practical solutions for controlling costs and improving energy efficiency. We ensure your water feature or aquatic facility will display crystal clarity, dramatic sparkle, or serene tranquility as it reveals the magic of water.
